Press release, August 18, 2014

Formpipe receives order from Uni-C, Danish agency for IT and Learning, worth SEK 5,8 million

Continuing to strengthen their relationship, Uni-C (Danish agency for IT and Learning) and Formpipe sign a supplementary agreement for development of an application to support the improvement of Vocational Education and Training. This is the second agreement in 2014 to support reforms within the educational system. The total order value amounts to SEK 5,8 million, and the agreement covers development, test and implementation of the vocational solution.

The solution will include extensions for "Optagelse.dk", a portal that handles student applications for higher education organizations in Denmark. This is a market with increasing attention due to the extensive reforms in Denmark within the education area. The solution will be developed and released during 2014.

Uni-C and Formpipe have for several years refined the portal Optagelse.dk to handle student's applications for higher education in Denmark with a continuously raised level of professionalism.

Formpipe has previously developed similar solutions, handling high volumes of applications, and can reuse its experience in delivering quality solutions within tight deadlines.

"We are delighted that Uni-C continue to choose us as supplier. The need for efficient e-governance leads to further investments in existing or new ECM solutions in the public sector. Our products enable our public sector customers to offer more service for less money, such as self-service, automated and digitized processes", says Christian Sundin, CEO of Formpipe.
